

Supporting Siempelkamp Nuclear Services, Inc in the Design and Fabrication of Segmentation Equipment for the Zion Station D&D Project

Bolt Milling Machine for Remote Core Barrel Operations

This remotely operated machine is used to cut the bolts that mount the Baffle Former Plates onto the Core Barrel of a Westinghouse PWR. This machine is hydraulically powered with an HMI touchscreen operator interface.

- 12-ft (3.5m) Long
- Module Cutting Heads
- Remote Underwater Operation
- Computer Interface
- Position Feedback
- Nuclear Environment

